

Nova Scotia Chapter Canadian Society of Safety Engineering 2008 Outstanding Achievement Award: Joint Occupational Health and Safety Committee

Presented to a Joint Occupational Health and Safety Committee in Nova Scotia which has had a demonstrable positive impact through the innovative promotion of workplace safety and health and exemplifies the spirit of the Nova Scotia Occupational Health and Safety Act by working together.

The award will consist of a citation, engraved plate and a continuing education prize.

Nomination of a Joint Occupational Health and Safety Committee to be considered for this award may be made by the employer and employees at the workplace where the Committee operates.

The nomination should clearly identify the reasons why the nominee is worthy of the award, including detailed documentation of achievement and letters of support. Please see the next page for a Nomination Form with additional detail.

The Awards Committee will select the nomination they feel best exemplifies the purpose of this award. The decision of the Awards Committee will be final and the Awards Committee will not enter into any correspondence regarding its decision. The Awards Committee reserves the right to withhold the presentation of this award if, in their opinion, no suitable nomination is received.

Nominations must be received by April 18, 2008.
